
HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

The Holidays are typically a joyous time of reflection, thanks and happiness. And this year, despite the many challenges, we feel this is more true than ever. We have witnessed first hand how many companies are using this time and the unique challenges of 2020, to forecast their future, make massive inroads within their organizational design, including deep analysis of the functionality of all roles and pushing efforts around Diversity, Inclusion and Equality.

There is a seemingly renewed sense of cautious hope on the candidate front with the announcement of a vaccine.

As we reflect further on the struggles and successes, we are immensely grateful for each of you as our clients and partners, the candidates we have helped along the way, and our staff. We truly love what we do and working with such talented companies and individuals is what makes it exciting to get up each and every morning with a renewed passion for our work. Our firm has and continues to grow. We completed even more searches this year and did more referral business than ever before – proving that our methodology and expertise continues to be leveraged by more local companies looking for a partner who can generate both an immediate impact, but also guarantee long-term success and retention.

We want to thank you all from the bottom of our hearts. We can only hope to continue to support and repay the businesses and relationships we have formed and solidified this year as we move into 2021 and beyond, by being there for you in any way we can.

We wish you all a happy, safe and joyous holiday season – a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. We look forward to 2021 and supporting you in the New Year.

Sincerely,

Andrew Little, CEO
